

Teiravon_Test_Server

The best place to learn about testing is in the

#test-server

channel on our Discord. There you can give feedback and ask questions about the current testing arc. You can also sign up as a Tester and receive Discord alerts when we roll out new features to test. The best place to read about the features that appear on the test server is Indev Features.

Test Server Information

You can connect to the test server manually at cluster1.shardsonline.com:5008

. However, the test server usually appears in the Legends of Aria Community tab, under the name TEST Teiravon Development Server www.teiravon.com. If the test does not appear in the Community tab, or if you are kicked back to the Main Menu when attempting to log in, it usually means the server has become unresponsive and needs to be rebooted. Feel free to ping in the

#test-server

channel in Discord when this happens.

Above all, remember to be patient while testing- unlike Teiravon's live server, which is hosted on quality, rented hardware, the test server is self-hosted and is laggy, incomplete, and unstable as a result.

Test Server Features

One of the first things you'll notice when logging in to the test server is a new button, next to the minimap. By clicking it, you can gain access to powers normally reserved for Staff members, to aid you in your testing. One of the options is "Edit Character", which brings up an editing menu for your own character. In the "Skills" tab, you can increase your skills. In the "Stats" tab, you can increase your stats.

The other option is "Create Items" which gives you a small list of useful testing supply boxes that you can create. Here is a list of the supply options and what they contain:
